GENERAL WASHINGTON AGAINST

PAPER MONEY.

Our readers have frequently seen the views of Jefferson on the subject of currency, but they may not know what were the sentiments of Washington on the same subject. We now place before them a letter from Washington to Mr. Thomas Stone, which we ask them to read, and weigh, his positions and the reasons he assigns, and then they will be able to determine whether the present administration is not on the grounds occupied by the Father of the Constitution. We ask our opponents to read the letter, and, as they profess to reverence the opinions of this great man, they will perceive that they perfectly coincide with those maintained by his contemporaries, Jefferson and Madison.

Mount Vernon, Feb. 16, 1787.

To THOMAS STONE:

Dear Sir—Your favor of the 30th ult.

came duly to hand. To give an opinion in a case of so much importance as that which has warmly agitated the two branches of the legislature, and which from the appeal that is made, is likely to create great and perhaps dangerous divisions, is rather a delicate matter; but as this diversity of opinion is on a subject which has, I believe, occupied the minds of most men, and as my sentiments thereon have been fully and decidedly expressed, long before the assembly either of Maryland or of this State was convened, I do not scruple to declare that if I had a voice in your legislature, it would have been given decidedly against a paper emission, upon the general principle of its inutility as a representative, and the necessity of it as a medium.

To assign reasons for this opinion, would be as unnecessary as tedious. The ground has been so often trod, that hardly a place remains untouched; in a word, the necessity arising from the want of specie is represented as greater than it really is. I contend that it is by the substance and not by the shadow of a thing that we are to be benefited. The wisdom of man, in my humble opinion, cannot, at this time, devise a plan by which the credit of paper money would

NOTICE.

THE paper and Philadelphia Engraving of the West Estate Banking Company, of Holly Springs, have been transferred to a different association of individuals, of which

J. C. ALDERSON, is President, and ROBERT ELDER, Cashier, the public are therefore hereby notified, that it is the alteration and determination of the present company to manage their business in such manner as at all times to be able, to give an exchange for their issues, when presented, such bank notes as pass current, and at par.

By order of the Company.

YEAST POWDER

THESE powders are an admirable substitute for yeast in making all kinds of batters, bread and light bread, and have the advantage over that article in making the batter perfectly light the instant they are mixed. Bakers and other cooks, when made with these powders, are less likely to disagree with the stomachs than those made with yeast; and as it requires but few minutes to prepare for baking, the possibility of ever having them done is entirely avoided. For sale at MALONE & FARRELL'S Drug store.

NOTICE.

ZECHARIAH B. RICE, administrator of Jefferson Hayti, deceased, having filed his account on oath, shewing the condition of the estate of his intestate, and it appearing to the honorable the Probate Court of Desoto county, that the personal estate said Jefferson Hayti, deceased, is insufficient to pay and satisfy the debt of said estate, without resort to the real estate. It is therefore ordered by said court, that notice be given in the Marshall County Republican, citing the heirs and distributees of said Jefferson Hayti, deceased, and all others interested, to be and appear at the court house in the town of Hernando, on the 12th day of November 1838, to shew cause, if any they have, why sale should not be made of divers Town Lots in the town of Hernando, of the property of said Jefferson Hayti, deceased, and known in the plan of said town as half of lots No. 165 and 166; also,

Lots 130, 133, 267, 268, 286, and 295.

Witness, the Hon. W. McMahon, Judge of the Court of Probate, the first Monday of October, 1838.

For publishing in the town of Grenada, Yalobusha county, a paper to be called the

STATE RIGHTS SENTINEL & ADVOCATE

Devoted to Science, Literature and Politics.

IN its political character, the Advocate shall adhere rigidly to the Republican doctrines of the Jeffersonian school. Its object shall ever be the dissemination of political truth, unshackled by party prejudices, uninfluenced by mere names, and unswayed by power; but ever firm in the support of principle, ever remembering that the dissemination of all good governments is the greatest happiness of the greatest number. Supporting not only so far as they are instruments in advancing the measures of the old Democracy; opposing the re-establishment of a National Bank, either with or without modification of the old charter, or the substitution of a Gallatin for a Biddle, an unconstitutional, inexpedient and destructive measure of both morals and liberty; and will support the present measure in its entirety, as divorce of Bank and Government, as well as in all other measures tending to relieve the south from her pecuniary vassalage from Northern capitalists. It will ever be found on the side of democ-rary, and will countenance only with the smile of derision, the pretensions of either a Clay, a Calhoun, or a Webster, or any other man who for any State office, who is not unqualifiedly opposed to the political views of the above named persons. Van Buren and Independent Treas-

FRIENDS OF YORE.

BY CATHERINE H. WATERMAN.

Where are my young companions,

The beautiful and gay,

That help'd to make my early life

A summer holiday.

Where are the voices wild, and free,

That range upon the air,

And weaken'd with their music strains,

Glad echoes every where;

In vain among the happy throng,

I list to hear once more.

Some gentle voice with tones like thine,

Mine early friends of yore.

I mark the gush of youthful hearts,

Swelling out in joy and gladness

And see those young and happy flowers

Make glad the household

I hear their ringing laughter

Like music on the wind

From the rich harp, whose

With buds of hope are two

Thou art the store,

With meek and broken heart,

Yes—I have seen the dark'd shades

Of dreariness and gloom,

And call'd from thy quiet graves,

In all thy early bloom.

I've seen again the clasping hand,

That hath lain in death,

And felt in my burning cheek

The long departed breath;

And many a fair and sunny spot
